Baseball Standout,

Hoosier Diamond would like to invite you to attend the 2010 Hoosier Diamond Winter Baseball Exposure Camp.

Hoosier Diamond will conduct our annual Winter Exposure Camp at Westfield High School, located in Westfield, Indiana inside Westfield's newly constructed fieldhouse on Sunday, January 24th.

Hoosier Diamond's Winter Exposure Camp at Westfield Indiana High School: Westfield's newly constructed field house is one of the largest most modern multipurpose indoor high school athletic facilities in the Midwest. Westfield is located on the north side of Indianapolis

Attending Hoosier Diamond's Winter Exposure Camp could be the single most important decision you make during your high school athletic career. Hoosier Diamond can not guarantee that you will walk away from this event with a college scholarship; however, you will have the opportunity to showcase your baseball skills in front of several college and professional baseball scouts. In addition your evaluation results will be provided to the more than 300 college baseball coaches throughout the United States that use our results to assist with their recruiting efforts.

The Hoosier Diamond Winter Exposure Camps are designed to give players the opportunity to perform and showcase specific tools to the numerous college coaches and pro scouts in attendance. The Exposure Camp is ideal for those players who have not received the extensive exposure that other players coming from powerhouse baseball programs have received. You do not need to be a "blue chip" player to benefit from these camps, however, many of the top college prospects in the Midwest will be attending. College coaches representing every level of baseball will be in attendance looking to recruit talent. Over 250 college baseball coaches and professional scouts will be invited to attend. Several coaches and scouts have already confirmed that they will be attending.

Each player will be evaluated by our staff of college baseball coaches and pro scouts. These college coaches and scouts will be recording radar scores, stop watch times, as well as, recording their comments of each player's ability. Our staff will generate a complete evaluation of your baseball skills. This evaluation will be forwarded to you after the camp. Many players find this evaluation beneficial in marketing themselves to colleges, as well as being a great tool in determining their own skill level. Every college baseball coach and pro scout in attendance will receive your evaluation results, home address, and your academic information (SAT, ACT, GPA). This information is a must for college coaches. All of your information that a college coach would need to begin your recruiting process will be provided. College coaches have told us the Hoosier Diamond Winter Exposure Camps are vital to their recruiting programs. Where else can a college coach in mid January go and see some of the top baseball talent in the Midwest?

In addition to you receiving fantastic exposure you and your parents will also receive valuable instruction in areas of financial aid, NCAA recruiting rules, NCAA Clearinghouse and the recruiting timeline. Our staff of speakers are some of the most knowledgeable in their fields of collegiate athletics. All of our speakers are either professional baseball players or college baseball coaches. Parents will find our information on financial aid, NCAA recruiting rules, the NCAA Clearinghouse and the recruiting timeline very beneficial.

Your exposure does not end when you leave the camp. At the conclusion of the camp Hoosier Diamond compiles your player profile along with your skill evaluation and places it in the hands of over 300 college baseball coaches. Hoosier Diamond's office is open year round, 5 days a week. Many college coaches will throughout the year call our office to inquire about top baseball talent. Your player profile becomes part of our data base. Hoosier Diamond will allow you to update your information and to have updated reports mailed out, free of charge, to college coaches. Hoosier Diamond, through the Hoosier Diamond newspaper and our website continues to promote high school and college baseball players. The Hoosier Diamond newspaper is published 10 times a year and is subscribed to by many college coaches and pro scouts.

Who should attend the Hoosier Diamond Exposure Camp? Any high school baseball player who has a desire to play college baseball. Juniors and seniors do not hesitate. Remember you do not have to be a "blue chip" player to benefit. Division I, II, III, NAIA, and Junior College coaches have told us that Hoosier Diamond's Winter Exposure Camps are beneficial tools in their recruiting efforts. Don't let other college prospects pass you by. What about the high school freshman and sophomore? College coaches have told us they are excited to see "young" upcoming players. Thousands of high school baseball players in the Midwest have a desire to play college baseball. For the freshman and sophomores this is an opportunity for you to get your name and skills known and a good start on that potential college scholarship.

Why Hoosier Diamond? Hoosier Diamond is the voice of baseball in the Midwest. No other single organization provides you with more opportunities to market yourself as a potential college or professional prospect. Hoosier Diamond, through our Winter Exposure Camps, Fall Showcase, All-Star Classics, and the Hoosier Diamond newspaper, provides you with an opportunity to reach your baseball goals. Hoosier Diamond's website has also become a very popular tool used by college coaches.

The cost for attending the Showcase is $185. Upon submitting your application you must enclose your $90 deposit. After we receive your application we will forward a confirmation letter and camp schedule, as well as directions and discounted motel information. The balance of your camp fees will be due no later than January 17th. Players registering after January 17th must pay the entire registration fee upon submitting their application.

Our camp in Westfield will be conducted from 1:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. (Indianapolis time).

Over 500 players representing 8 states attended a Hoosier Diamond camp last year. These camps will fill very quickly. Hoosier Diamond is the "Grand Daddy" of exposure and showcase camps in the Midwest. 2010 will mark our 18th year conducting exposure and showcase camps. Our staff has been providing evaluation results to college baseball programs longer than most college coaches have been coaching baseball. Because of our long term relationship with college baseball programs, the information and evaluation results produced by Hoosier Diamond is considered by many college coaches some of the most reliable recruiting information available. Registrations are limited. It is important that you complete your registration and return it to Hoosier Diamond as soon as possible.

If you have any questions concerning the Hoosier Diamond Winter Exposure Camps please do not hesitate to visit our website at www.hoosierdiamond.com or call our office at 317-773-1411 or contact us by e-mail at Hoosieimaba@aol.com.
